

Christopher J. Mailander

COUNSELOR, CENTER FOR HUMAN
EMERGENCE – MIDDLE EAST

Christopher J. Mailander is Counselor to the Center for Human Emergence – Middle East, providing guidance on matters of governance and policymaking; economic, social and cultural development; legal procedures and reforms; and private sector investment. He is also Managing Director of Mailander & Company, LLC, an international advisory firm to corporations, private equity investors, and foreign governments, with a long-standing relationships in the Middle East, China, and Africa. Mr. Mailander is particularly focused upon cross-cultural negotiations; bridging differing values systems amongst investors, businesses, and governments from both emerging markets and industrialized nations; and developing highly-integrated, cross-disciplinary strategies for enabling companies and governments to emerge and transform.

Prior to Mailander & Company, Mr. Mailander was a founding member and business manager of three new operational units of the global systems integrator, BearingPoint Inc. (NYSE: BE). He was the managing director of The Savile Group, a private consultancy serving the international finance and private equity industries. He also served as Vice President/Counsel of Ketchum, a unit of Omnicom (NYSE: OMNI), managing its finance and trade policy practice.

He has served as adjunct professor of law at Georgetown University Law Center, teaching international finance, investment, and technology law; and has also been an adjunct fellow with the Center for Strategic & International Studies (CSIS), a leading foreign policy think tank based in Washington, D.C.

Mr. Mailander is a member of the United States Supreme Court bar and the State Bar of California. He graduated with highest honors from Georgetown University Law Center with an advanced legal degree (Masters of Law, LL.M) in securities and financial regulation, concentrating in the areas of international finance; venture capital and private equity finance; mergers and acquisitions; and financial derivatives.

April, 2008